ORLANDO INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT Hurricane Recovery Program

This program consisted of managing the multiple bid packages required to complete the temporary and permanent repairs of the damages caused by the 2004 hurricanes.

The recovery program included performing damage assessment inspections, developing repair estimates, initiating scope packages for direct negotiated agreements or bidding between contractors, coordination with FEMA and insurance representatives, coordinating design services where needed, and repair contract management.

The program included 54 individual bid packages, representing almost $24 million in construction costs completed over a 20 month period.
